PSSI to Partner with Compressus Duo to Target Healthcare Industry with MEDxConnect Technology

GOOSE CREEK, SC, July 1st – Perez Software Services, Inc. (PSSI), a provider of information system enhancements and solutions to the medical industry, today announced a business partnership with Compressus, leaders in interoperability of disparate healthcare IT systems.

PSSI provides information system solutions and enhancements to the U.S. healthcare industry, specializing in graphical enhancements and mission-critical systems on the iSeries and PC platforms. PSSI will use Compressus' MEDxConnect™ technology to enhance the Radiology needs of their current customer base by creating connectivity and interoperability between diagnostic acquisition devices, HIS, RIS PACS, and their related information systems.

The MEDxConnect System acts as a communications hub, enabling various PACS, HIS, RIS and other data information systems to connect and communicate across the Enterprise. Utilizing HL7, DICOM, and other standards, the System helps control the flow of images, reports, messages, standard patient demographics and other important data for diagnosis and treatment planning of a patient between otherwise independent and disparate systems.

The integrated imaging and data management solution from Compressus is designed to support a facility's current and expanded workload and provide an infrastructure for sustained growth. Building the functionality required for remote connectivity, the system enables users to access diagnostic images and reports in the existing data stores at each facility, increasing the level of medical care while reducing the associated costs.

“We at PSSI are very aware of our customer's needs. When we see an opportunity to improve their services we act on it,” said Bill Perez, CEO of PSSI. “We are thrilled about having yet another product to offer to our clients that gives them the ability to better serve their patients, reduce cost and increase efficiency, throughout all their HIS, RIS and PACS systems regardless of the infrastructure. Compressus is a great company with many talented people. That fits in very nicely with our business model.”
